

J. Todd Kincannon is an attorney in Columbia, South Carolina with the firm of Barnes, Alford, Stork & Johnson. His practice focuses on civil litigation, appeals, and election law. Mr. Kincannon has a particular interest in statutory interpretation and legislative drafting.

Mr. Kincannon is also a friend to firearms owners and has been for some time. A concealed weapons permittee, Mr. Kincannon recently represented GrassRoots GunRights and filed a friend-of-the-court brief in D.C. v. Heller, the gun rights case presently pending before the United States Supreme Court. Mr. Kincannon is also an avid collector of firearms and an ardent supporter of the rights of law-abiding citizens to purchase and possess firearms and use firearms for personal defense.