

Addendum:

Gary had told his story to many people most of whom simply can't believe that State Farm would adopt a policy so harmful as a precedent to shooters and gun owners.

Gary spoke with a friend and High Power Rifle shooter, Nick Webber on a couple of occasions and received the same response. Then Nick, decided to check out Gary's story himself by calling Bloomington, IL - State Farm's Corporate offices.

If the current evidence isn't enough, Nick will relate to anyone his conversation with State Farm Corporate Representative Ted Loy of the Bloomington, Il office. In this conversation Mr. Loy acknowledged that while State Farm doesn't have written policy on this matter, cancelling a homeowners policy for having a shooting range is within State Farm's guidelines on a case by case basis.

"These guys are good friends of mine who did not believe my State Farm story until they confirmed for themselves. They are in the process of changing from State Farm at this time. Mick Weber, in fact, called State Farm's executive office in Bloomington, Illinois and lodged a complaint. After a three day review State Farm headquarters confirmed the position taken by Mrs. Wilder as official State Farm position. Again, talk to Mick Weber and get it directly. Moe Dunn is very active with Wild Turkey Federation and promises to get this story out with his organization. Call him too."
